Reginald George Hintz

Company director and accountant Reg Hintz has spent most of his working life investing in people and helping to grow businesses around New Zealand.

For more than 70 years, Reg has worked in finance and accountancy, focusing on guiding people to success in business. Post-World War II, he realised that there were a multitude of opportunities in a dramatically different world and set out to develop a tailor-made finance business committed to financing others to achieve their dreams.

Now in his 90s, he remains at the helm, acknowledging that he still “thinks outside the square”. Equally, Reg invested in his passion for cricket over many decades as a member of the Burnside West Christchurch University Cricket Club, for which he played in the Presidents Grade for many years, and served on the committee and was also Treasurer, Vice-president, and President. For his long service, he was made a life member of the club.
