Alexander (Alex) David Daniel Reese

Alex Reese is the founder and chairman of the Cricket Live Foundation, which uses cricket to develop the life skills and education of underprivileged children in Sri Lanka and India.

A good scholar and leg spinner, who played in the 1st XI for four years, Alex didn't foresee his passion leading to a career on another continent. The seed was planted in 2008 when he toured India as part of a New Zealand Secondary Schools' team and consolidated when he returned to Mumbai at 18. He saw the huge need of those who struggled with schooling but loved sport, and decided to marry the two to improve their general education and ongoing quality of life.

Alex opened the first Cricket Live centre for 48 boys at Moratuwa, Sri Lanka, in 2014. The foundation now operates six centres in Sri Lanka and India, working with 675 children.

Alex now lives in London, where he works in sports management, commerce and marketing.
