ISSUE 42 – 12 NOVEMBER 2012

FROM THE HEADMASTER

Just over a week ago, The Archbishop of Canterbury was in our Chapel leading a Cathedral service; we do not believe the Chapel has ever been honoured in that way in the College's history. His sermon was expertly crafted and beautifully delivered, and will be remembered by all present. In the afternoon he met with young people from all over the city, and shared his views about how worship for young people should be approached – he stressed that young people should be treated 'seriously' and their ability to grow spiritually should be encouraged, whilst warning against the tendency to assume they had to be 'entertained' for a spiritual experience to be acceptable.

My usual commentary on buildings progress includes looking forward to the imminent removal of the Harper/Julius scaffolding. As this project approaches its end, I must learn not to ask silly questions. Noticing that the roofers had slated the main roof right across, including where chimneys are to be replaced, I asked the head stonemason about it. He looked straight at me, and said 'Oh no. Don't tell me they haven't left any gaps,' before smiling wryly. Translated: 'Headmaster – go and shuffle some papers'.

We are all confused by the Ministry of Education's communication about the future of state schooling in Christchurch – announcements then retractions, decisions followed by consultation processes, and all embracing plans with local inconsistencies. Of course, there have to be changes – there are demographic changes which can not be ignored, massive expenditure ahead which must be prudently applied, and geotechnical detail which has to be embraced. But what is most unnerving is the suggestion that the calamities in Christchurch are the key to some form of educational revolution. The latest pamphlet which came through letter boxes this weekend, 'Greater Christchurch Education Renewal', contains shallow assertions such as 'old schools only support one style of learning', and the standard quota of clichés including 'today's learners are dynamic multitasking communicators and collaborators'. Clichés aside, the city of necessity has to redevelop some facilities, and at the same time progressive methods can be supported. What is missing so far, however, has been a clear emphasis on community cohesion around schools, and some expressed understanding of how important to families is the security a local school provides. The regrettably confused messages coming out so far have done little to reassure people that the current Christchurch situation is not seen primarily as an opportunity to enhance personal political profiles.

As our seniors are now engaged in their examinations, I hope they will heed my final assembly advice about 'strategic' approaches to their papers. Some may feel they 'have enough already' or 'only need x' – others may take this short-sighted view further and not attend some examinations. I asked them to consider possible future 'count-back' situations. Examinations and qualifications are not just about getting over a bar to the next stage; they form part of a track record of achievement which will always be available for scrutiny. There may come a time when comparisons are made between candidates – one who did just enough at a previous stage, and one who did clearly more than was necessary. There may be some situations where students feel they are better with no result, than a poor one – if that is the dilemma they face, they should be disappointed to have put themselves in that position. In most cases, however, good preparation and a sound attempt at all the opportunities presented is the best way forward. I wish them all every success.

We have recently concluded our selection for next year's school leaders. The process is not perfect nor indeed totally objective, as it can not be when considering such a diverse and talented group of young men. All those who were considered should be very pleased that their qualities were recognised, and those who were successful, gracious in their appointment. For those who were considered for the top positions, both the potential for pleasure and for disappointment are heightened, but I thank them all for providing Mr Donaldson and me with the opportunity to evaluate some exceptional people. I am confident that the depth of talent and personal quality in next year's senior year will once again ensure a great year for College.

Simon Leese, Headmaster

CHILD CANCER FOUNDATION

Mrs Clare Wilkinson of the Child Cancer Foundation was a guest at the Chapel service, Monday 5 November where she was presented with a cheque for $13,386.00 by the Humanitarian Committee.

The committee has been fundraising on behalf of the foundation throughout 2012, holding dances, bbqs, collections and mufti days. Mrs Wilkinson spoke to the boys about the significance of the donation, explaining that the money raised would be put towards the rebuild of their Family Place in Cashel Street. The Family Place is a retreat for families from the hospital, a place to enjoy some family time and to meet up with other parents on the same journey as well as access resources from the Child Cancer Foundation.

She also spoke of the value of a committee like the Humanitarian Committee in raising awareness for the organisation. "You are very generous and very aware of what is going on in the community. It is fantastic for organisations like the Child Cancer Foundation to have that support."

FROM THE CHAPLAIN

There was much focus on young people by the The Archbishop of Canterbury, Rowan Williams, when he was in Christchurch 3-4 November. On Saturday, after a welcoming powhiri at Te Hui Amorangi O Te Waipounamu marae, he spoke at The Concert which celebrated the student volunteer army and the 75,000 hours of work they have contributed to help Canterbury.

The Archbishop met the organiser, old boy Sam Johnson, and described him as an "extraordinary man" with a leadership and authority that is creative. The Archbishop said many people, including the Church, can learn from such leadership that serves others. He called the young people "a flash mob of grace".

On Sunday, the Archbishop presided and preached at a cathedral service in the Christ's College Chapel. I cannot think of someone more significant who has done this in the history of our school. It was good to see staff, students, and Old Boys who participated in this historic occasion. The text of the sermon of the Archbishop at that cathedral service in our chapel is <http://tinyurl.com/ABCatCC>

Then, that afternoon, a group from the school, with other young people, took up the amazing invitation to spend time with the Archbishop, listen to him, and ask him questions. Mp3 files of the Archbishop's time with young people are <http://tinyurl.com/ABCChYouth>

The next day in Chapel, Zach Andrew, chair of the Humanitarian Committee, presented Mrs Clare Wilkinson, of the Child Cancer Foundation, with a cheque for $13,386. The committee has been fundraising on behalf of the foundation throughout 2012. There is a wonderful culture of generous concern that has grown up amongst our students.

This is an extremely short term. We wish all the best for those into examination leave. Preparations are also well underway for our Advent Carol Service with Medbury School and The Cathedral Grammar School choirs. After that we, as last year, will celebrate Christmas together in a service with Carols on the Quad, an opportunity to sing Christmas carols with some readings and prayers.

Blessings

Bosco Peters, Chaplain

CURRICULUM NOTES

The external examination season has finally begun. When I give boys their briefing on assessment rules and conditions for NCEA in February of each year, I describe the process of applying for derived grades, what they are, and the circumstances under which candidates may be eligible.

Guidelines for eligibility can be found here: <http://tinyurl.com/bvrxmtd>

If for any reason you think that your son may require a derived grade, please read these notes carefully. You will need to complete the application form which can be downloaded from the QA website or collect a copy from Mr Aburn or me. A medical certificate is required from your GP if the problem is medical in nature.

THEATRESPORTS

On Sunday afternoon the College heat of the junior Theatresports competition was held at Heaton Intermediate's Performing Arts Centre. Organised and hosted by the Court Jesters, this proved an entertaining event. The novice College team of Ben Kent, Fraser McKenzie, Hamish Thomas, Oliver Warne and Joshua Wensley were a well co-ordinated and quick-thinking group.

In the initial blind round Oliver Warne and Hamish Thomas drew the word at a time game. Their antics, disposing of giant-sized mice, gained the highest score of the five teams.

Genre rollercoaster was the boys' choice for the second round. Set in a laundromat, the story ranged through such diverse movie styles as western, science fiction horror and documentary.

The team ended with a rousing torture puppet scene when Joshua Wensley was responsible for all the movement of his fellow team members, as they told their story. The very successful scenes devised by the College team led to them tying for second place in their heat – an excellent result.

PARENTS' ASSOCIATION BURSARY

The 2012 Christ's College Parents' Association Bursary has been awarded to musician Ross Shillito and sailor Sam Thomas. Each of the boys has received $1000.

Ross Shillito has been learning the drums for seven years, and the saxophone for five. This year he successfully completed his Grade 8 examinations in both. "I feel very lucky to have been awarded this bursary. Next year I wish to take the ATCL exam (Associate Diploma in Music Performance) on the saxophone, and this bursary will be very welcome in helping towards the costs of the lessons, the rehearsals, and the exam itself," says Ross.

Sam Thomas, who earlier this year qualified for and attended the 420 Open World Sailing Championships in Austria, will use the bursary towards forming a 49er team (with Alex Munro who holds the 420 and 29er titles) in Auckland where he will be studying in 2013. "The financial assistance of this bursary towards the ongoing costs of maintaining a 49er and travelling to regattas is greatly appreciated," says Sam. "The aim of our 49er partnership would be to spend the first year gaining experience in the class and learning the skills to sail this boat at a high-level of competition. This would include sailing in all the major national regattas and potentially the Australian nationals."

Sam Thomas

Previous recent bursary winners have included Nick Dow (musician), Julius Herzhoff (fencer), Jock Harris (equestrian), Alex Reece (cricketer). Each year the bursary is generated from the interest on deposits held by the Association and fundraising.

SCHOOL SPORT CANTERBURY AWARDS

Four Christ's College sportsmen have been awarded 'the most outstanding sportsman in 2012' for their particular sport across all Canterbury schools.

Certificates acknowledging the awards were presented by the Headmaster last week's assembly to Sam Bosworth for rowing Julius Herzhoff for fencing, Kip Mouldley for hockey and Jason Yoo for golf.

INTERHOUSE CLAYBIRD RESULTS

Richards House has won the 2012 interhouse claybird shoot. Held at the North Canterbury Clay Target Club last Sunday, the teams enjoyed a great morning of competitive shooting. The winning Richards House team included Duncan James (captain), Tom Kidner, Rupert Power, Thomas Cresswell and Jason Erasmus. The Headmaster's Cup for the best score in the final round was won by Rupert Power who shot nine of the ten clays. The Flower's House Cup for the highest score in any round was won by William Hurst of Jacobs House with ten from ten clays.

INTERHOUSE FILM COMPETITION

The 2012 Interhouse film competition provided another very entertaining evening for those who came to the OBT Friday 26 October.

Entries this year varied from documentaries and dramas to music videos and comedies and all showed a high degree of visual story-telling skill. Many of the boys who submitted the 18 films on show were making a film for the first time, but the three judges, Anne Williams, Wayne Williams and Michael van de Water were impressed by the overall standard.

Winners for 2012 were:

STILL ONE TO WATCH

Jason Yoo (Condell's Year 12) is still a sportsman to keep an eye on. He was recently awarded School Colours for Golf and has enjoyed another successful year. At Canterbury level, he has been a member of the men's senior squad and has competed in National tournaments. At age group level, he has won both the South Island and the National under-17 title, and was third in the South Island under-19 and fifth in the National under-19 tournaments.

Jason is currently the number one golfer at Waitakiri Golf Club and is in the Top 32 amateur golfers in New Zealand for 2012.

TUG-OF-WAR

The 2012 tug-of-war competition, a popular event on the interhouse calendar, was contested on Thursday 1 November. The boarding houses fared strongly, with Flower's and School House meeting in several finals. School House won the championship for Year 9 and Year 11. Harper House spoiled School's run in the Year 10 final and were the overall winners, while in the senior grade Flower's House took the title.

Families for Families

Families for Families is a charitable trust who provide food parcels for Christchurch families in need.

After the devastating earthquakes many families are still trying to rebuild their lives and the financial struggle is immense. The increase of families needing help has risen 110% since the earthquakes.

These families may not be able to afford food this Christmas, so this idea was born from a desire to help, by asking businesses and the people of Christchurch to help other families.

In conjunction with The Mad Butcher Families for Families are aiming to provide 3000 needy families a food package for Christmas, distributed through The Salvation Army.

At a cost of $20, each food package will include 2 chickens, 20 sausages, 2 loaves of bread and fresh vegetables.
