

In Black & White

CHRIST'S COLLEGE
CANTERBURY

Issue 70, 17 June 2014

From the Headmaster

At the end of 2008, my message in the Leavers' Year Book invited them to contact me in exactly five years' time and tell me what they were up to. In a previous In Black & White, I mentioned that the first reply (and winning the long ago promised 'tuck shop voucher of a never previously seen scale') was Head Prefect of that year, Winston Cosgrove. His winnings were duly presented to him on my behalf by Captain Elaine Cowan at Waiouru, where he is undertaking Officer training. We congratulate him on being one of two Officer Cadets selected to complete the remainder of his training at Royal Military College, Duntroon, Canberra, Australia. His 'voucher' was used to provide Subway platters for his class and instructors, which I gather went down rather well!

Big Sing 2014

Christ's College entered three choirs into this year's New Zealand Choral Federation National Big Sing. At the Canterbury Westland Festival which culminated with a gala at the CBS arena on Friday evening, the three choirs were well represented in the nine awards presented for the region. The Chapel Choir was awarded the best stage presence at the festival, Schola Cantorum was the most outstanding boys' choir, and Collegium, a newly formed choir with St Margaret's College was awarded the best performance of a classical or romantic work.

Twenty four choirs will be selected from around the country to attend the national finale in Auckland at the end of August. The selected choirs will be announced at the conclusion of all the regional festivals at the end of June.

We have welcomed Ric Fletcher to his new role as Development Director. Ric has come to us from Australia, though originally from South Africa, and brings to College substantial experience as a professional fundraiser. He is spending time learning about the College and our wider community.

Last week, at the wonderful celebration of Abi Hone's short life, the clergyman referred to a story of a labourer whose recommendation letter for farm work said simply 'he sleeps in a storm'. I recalled hearing it some years ago, and it was part of a wonderful sermon delivered in 1975 by Rabbi Albert Lewis. The story unfolded that the labourer was hired by a farmer desperate for help even though the recommendation was obscure and not understood. Some weeks later the farmer awoke to hear a terrible storm, and called for the labourer to help him protect the farm, but he didn't respond as he was asleep. The distressed farmer ran round the farm - only to find everything in order, battened down, and the animals safe. The labourer's testimonial then made sense. It is a message for us all - from the most significant life events to the routine and mundane, living our lives proactively and thoughtfully will let us 'sleep in a storm'.

I am just finishing the provisional entry list for 2015, and will be making telephone calls tomorrow morning, on the agreed date between the schools, to those who have secured our wide range of scholarships. There are some outstanding individuals in the mix. As I said to the boys in the hall last week, when I looked at them I saw the Head Boy of 2019, prefects, leading sportsmen, actors - the future of the school. A school like ours is about continuity, and the resilience of our core values, not about the ebb and flow of short term challenges and transient individual ambitions and characters. Whilst one entry may look much like another, it is interesting how year groups adopt a character, and indeed how this tends to be reflected in the other schools in the city when I compare notes with my Head colleagues - all seem to feel this year's leavers are a particularly good vintage. We will see! Meanwhile the leavers of 2019, will be joining our community shortly.

The Bursar's department will be decamping to their new offices on the corner of Armagh Street during the next holidays, after which we will have a temporary reception office arrangement in the current building, whilst the area is remodelled. We are now ready to recruit a permanent receptionist (or more than one) for the new office arrangement. It would suit a full time person, or perhaps a job sharing arrangement. This will be an administration contract with conventional hours, including school holidays. If anyone within the school community might be interested in the role, contact Kate Cronin, the Bursar's PA. More detailed information will be sent out next week.

Of interest this week was the securing of a lease on our Cricket Grounds in Hagley Park. Whilst the media perhaps rather mischievously spoke of 'legalising' our use of the field (after squatting 'illegally' since 1886 by inference!) in reality this is a relief to have regularised a situation which had its origins in antiquity, and which we have been diligently working on for many years. The development of Hagley Oval for Test cricket adjacent to us, a significant change in the character and use of the park, brought some additional focus on the lease issue. Whilst the historical position based on gentlemanly agreement, and the time honoured relationship between ourselves and the City Council had a certain appeal, both parties are pleased with the outcome. We now have the opportunity to look more objectively at our facilities, including the very tired pavilion, with clarity for the future.

This copy of In Black & White is being distributed to a much wider community, enabling for the first time those not currently within the College to receive it - rather than having to access it through our website. If you have received the link for the first time, I hope you will find it of interest and will opt to receive it in the future. It is published fortnightly, usually on Tuesday. Whilst mentioning our modern media channels, can I point you to the Facebook, Twitter and YouTube icons on the top of our website front page (www.christscollege.com). Our Facebook presence is continually updated with insights into the day-to-day life of the school, and the YouTube link contains a number of short videos which you are sure to enjoy. Whilst this wealth of material is provided for your interest and enjoyment, you could help us to spread the word by 'liking', and in particular, 'sharing' the content. Whilst never particularly drawn to the concept of 'viral' media exposure, a bit of mild infection can be good for the constitution long term!

From the Chaplain

On Thursday 29 May, the school celebrated the Ascension, altering our timetable to have a special Chapel service.

All the Year 9 students have now received a Bible. This is a gift from the school. The Bible has the student's name in the front. We are working our way through significant Bible stories – the background to so much in our Western life and culture. If there is a student new to the school this year, he should come and see me to be given a Bible.

Year 11 students have handed in their NCEA work on the Reformation. I regularly wonder what those without religious education make of the tragic, complex news from the Middle East – it is hard enough to follow with introductory religious understanding. It is a further hope of Religious Education that it enables and encourages tolerance and understanding – precisely the sort of tolerance that is missing in these places.

Ten senior students have been preparing since last term to be confirmed at a special diocesan confirmation service in the Transitional Cathedral on Latimer Square, on Sunday 22 June. The service will be at 5pm. There will be a service in our Chapel in the morning, but your son may wish to go and support those being confirmed. That service in the Transitional Cathedral will count as one of his evening services. The ten being confirmed are: George Fitzgerald, Angus McKenzie, Ben Fulton, Jeremy Penrose, Tom Gudopp, Anthony Goh, David Fechny, Michael Newton, Chris Cornell and Oliver Tyro.

In Chapel recently we made connections between the wonderful production of CATS and our own lives. TS Eliot, on whose poems the lyrics are based, became a Christian in his late twenties, much to the surprise (one might say "shock") of his friends and colleagues. His faith was integral to his poems that followed.

This week we had people speaking to us from CanTeen in preparation for the head-shave fundraiser at the end of this term.

It is always great to welcome you to Chapel services and other events around the school.

Blessings

Bosco Peters, Chaplain

Curriculum News

It is that time of year when applications for Financial Assistance for NCEA examination fees are due. The rules around eligibility for financial assistance are:

5.4 Financial Assistance Eligibility for financial assistance

To be eligible for financial assistance the applicant (the parent or guardian of the candidate, or a person with relevant care responsibilities) must be the fee payer and meet at least one of the following criteria:

- be receiving a Work and Income or Study Link benefit (benefit-based applications);
- have a joint family income that would entitle the applicant to receive a Community Services Card from Work and Income (income-based applications);
- where the total fees to pay would otherwise exceed a limit set by the Minister of Education, a fee payer with two or more children who are candidates is entitled to partial remission of fees, irrespective of family income.

Under normal circumstances, where the fee payers are not eligible for financial assistance on the basis of income, but rather on the basis of two or more children sitting examinations, it is usually only worthwhile applying for assistance. However, a key factor here is if one or more of your children is sitting multiple Scholarship examinations (specifically more than three scholarship subject examinations). It is well worth checking the criteria carefully.

Schools must have these applications in the hands of NZQA no later than 1 September. If you plan on submitting an application to College (in the case where you have children at two or more schools) can you please have your completed form to me no later than 25 August to allow me sufficient time to process applications.

To print off a copy of the application form, or to get more information on eligibility, go to this web address:

Boarding Programme

The boarding programme has once again been busy and well supported this term. Events have included watching the Canterbury Crusaders rugby and Canterbury Rams basketball teams in action, as well as laserstrike, movies and golf driving range. In the weekend just gone, we had five Boarding House teams participate in the annual mud run at Motukarara Racecourse. The wet weather leading up to the day certainly made for ideal conditions.

The Year 11 boarders have been involved in cooking sessions with their fellow St Margaret's College students. A combination of new cooking skills, as well as social interaction has been taking place. The Materials Tech Workshop continues to be well supported on a Sunday afternoon with boys either completing assignment work or working on their own separate projects.

This Sunday (weather permitting) will see the ski bus head to Mt Hutt for the first time this season. The cost of ski hire and lift passes will be charged to accounts but the cost of the bus will be covered by the boarding programme. Trips to ten pin bowling and one more game of basketball will also be taking place over the last two weekends of term.

Leadership Conference

On the last Tuesday of this term Christ's College will be hosting the 6th Annual Emerging Leaders' Conference. This one day conference is fully funded through a legacy to the College and is hosted by Christ's College in association with The Sir Peter Blake Trust. Being fully funded means there is no cost to the delegates or their schools.

The aim of the day is to develop an awareness of leadership (in all its forms) amongst Year 12 students. This year will see over 500 students from 25 schools around Canterbury attending. This includes all Year 12 students at Christ's College. We have been fortunate to be well supported by people willing to take plenary sessions and workshops.

The keynote speaker will be William Pike (a mountaineer who lost his leg, and nearly lost his life, during a lahar eruption on Mt Ruapehu in 2007). In a change from previous years the second plenary session will consist of four speakers each talking for 15 minutes on their leadership experiences. They are Sue Worner (Lincoln University), Alex Reese (www.cricketlive.co.nz), Delwyn Neill (Navy) and Hera Hjartardottir (www.fledge.co.nz) <<http://www.fledge.co.nz>>

In the afternoon the students will be split into groups for some practical-based leadership workshops. Workshop presenters include the Army, Airforce and Navy as well as David Goodman (Anderson Lloyd Lawyers), Sam Johnson (College Old Boy and Young New Zealander of the Year), Nigel Watson (Antarctic Heritage Trust), Tony McKenna (Opus) and Paul Nicholson (Full On).

The day promises to be exciting and worthwhile day and hopefully all students will gain something from it in terms of who are they are and what leadership attributes they possess.

Connected

It is with great pleasure that the producers of the Christ's College and St Margaret's College film, Connected, invite you to attend the film's premiere. This will be held at the Charles Luney Auditorium, St. Margaret's College on 29 July 2014.

The screening of a film is an exciting moment for any film-maker, but this is especially true for the students of the two schools who have been involved in the writing, production and editing of this project for nearly a year and a half. The final result is a testament to their combined efforts and we hope you will be able to share in their achievement.

Written by students, headed by Amazir Aknine and Meghan Laing, the film is about a history student who, as part of his research into early 20th Century photography, stumbles across a girl from the period he is researching on an online chat room. His friends are all obsessed with the technology of cell phones, Facebook, Twitter etc. and he thinks they are playing a practical joke on him. When he discovers the girl online is actually from 1911 and is critically ill, he has to make a vital choice about whether he can save her.

This is the sixth film produced for the two schools by HOD Media Studies at Christ's College, Peter Hewson. "The students have great fun doing these film projects," he says, "as they learn a great deal about the process involved in film-making and the skills required." Adult mentors from the film and television industry have helped guide the students through the process.

We very much hope that you can join us at St Margaret's College on the Tuesday 29 July.

From the Archives

Tucked into one of the archives boxes marked "Chapel" is a book by W. Walsham Howe called "Holy Communion, Preparation and Companion". Presented to Rowland Cecil Tosswill (2885) a boarder in School House, it is an example of the long tradition of marking Confirmation with the gift of a book.

There is evidence that editions of this particular work were presented in the Diocese of Christchurch since the 1880's. Not only do these gifts mark a significant event in the life of an individual, they also provide them with prayers to help those who were confirmed, according to the words that were used in the Confirmation Service at this time, to continue "thine forever, and daily increase in thy Holy Spirit, more and more until he come unto thy everlasting kingdom".

This particular volume has the added poignancy of being associated with the College Chaplain, Guy Spencer Bryan-Brown and having been given to Tosswill, just three days after the Gallipoli Landings. The Battle of the Landing claimed the life of two Christ's College old boys - 22 year old Oswald Mark Norris while 24 year old Francis LH Sapsford was unaccounted for. Both old boys would later be remembered at the Lone Pine Memorial.

Guy Spencer Bryan-Brown arrived at Christ's College from a teaching and chaplaincy position at Glenalmond, Scotland in 1913. He coached the First XI, played fives, was a member of the dialectic society, camped with the cadets and became involved in the life of School House as a tutor. He also played cricket for Canterbury and took on leadership roles in social justice groups within the Diocese. Like many College chaplains before and after him, he was responsible for the preparation of boys for Confirmation and Tosswill was one amongst 30 who were presented in that year to Bishop Churchill Julius, second Bishop of the Diocese and Warden of Christ's College. B-B, as he was known, was killed in action on 14 October 1917.

Library Matters

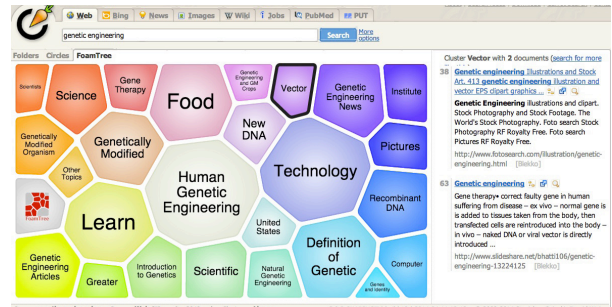

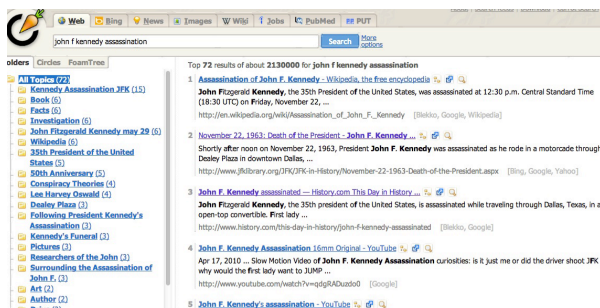

The spotlight is still on research this term and it is great to see so many boys in the library looking for information. Research into any topic can be either a journey of discovery that keeps you fascinated as you learn more and more or it can be an overwhelming task where you sift through thousands of websites trying to find what you need. You then lose that one vital piece of data as you have so many tabs open!

So here are two tools to help your sons.

Carrot2 is an open source search results clustering engine. It can automatically organise (cluster) search results into thematic categories. This is particularly useful when boys are starting their search - whatever the subject or topic. They are presented with sub topics which can help them search more efficiently and effectively, and provides keywords for them to then go on and use for more refined searching. I love it because it provides less information in an organised way. This has got to be a good thing for boys!

Here is an examples of how it 'clusters' into themes. The 'search' is John F Kennedy's assassination.

This is a visual representation of a how Carrot2 clusters information. Excellent for visual learner!

The second tool is OneTab - an excellent little app that sits as an icon in the top right-hand corner of your browser. It quite simply saves all the tabs that you have open as a list, you can give the list a name and hey presto - your search is saved forever. I am so going to use this app the next time I book a holiday!

The 2014 Christ's College vs King's College Debate

The Demosthenes Trophy debating exchange was first instigated back in 1966 in order to strengthen ties between our two schools. Over the years Christ's College has won this trophy 22 times, while King's College has won it 19 times. This year's annual debate, held up in Otahuhu (Auckland) last Friday 13 June, was certainly going to be another strongly contested debate.

Vincent Curd, William Warren and William Fulton were very warmly welcomed by Mr David Barclay and his team of Year 13 Debaters, Sam Clarke, Will Eddowes and Elle Hughes, who showed us around their school and their beautiful brick and wood chapel. Part of the tour included Mr Barclay pointing out a spot of special significance to Christ's College – the white stone cross that was removed from our Chapel following the 2011 February earthquake. This was presented to King's College by our Headmaster Simon Leese to thank them for taking a number of our students in the aftermath of the earthquake.

After the tour of the school we joined the boarders for a tasty dinner in their Dining Hall. The debaters were then given some time to prepare in the boardroom, the Richwhite Room.

This year Christ's affirmed that "This House would punish the parents of under-18 children who were convicted of crimes", arguing that it was the state's duty to ensure problem parents were punished for negligence in raising their children. King's response was to question the fairness of punishing good parents who, despite their best efforts, have a child who goes off the rails due to factors such as peer pressure or drugs. Sadly, it was to be King's year again, as they were able to finally convince the adjudicator that all parents should not be punished for their children's criminal actions. Vincent Curd was once again outstanding in the presentation of his team's case, and was awarded the top marks of the debate. The gap between wins and losses has therefore, unfortunately, further narrowed this year.

Mud Run

Christ's College was well-represented at the annual UC Education Mud Run at Motukurara Raceway on Sunday. Ten College teams participated, with the team of Tom Raymond, Harry Bonifant, George Perkins and Ben Morris taking line honours. In second place was the team of Toby Franks, Andrew Ford, Frazer Densem and Sam Doyle.

Qualification for National Tournament

Our football 1st XI has stepped out strongly this season and set a number of milestones, with plenty of the season remaining. Most significantly the side has earned a spot at the National Premier Tournament for the first time since 1999. Depending on other results, it is expected that the Christ's College side will compete in the top 16 group at this tournament to be held at Napier in September.

MIC Football Matt Cortesi says that the success they are enjoying this year is the result of hard training and development work which began in 2010. "The development work has included training camps with the APFA Academy, a tour to South America and futsal training and competition in the boys' spare time. Richard Bell's (coach) input through Futsal and with the 1st XI has helped us to develop a good style of play and improved overall quality of skills," says Mr Cortesi.

Milestones achieved so far this year:

- only the third time in 20 years (1994, 2009, and 2014) the side has beaten Christchurch Boys' High School 1st XI, and the first time they have beaten them twice in one season.
- first time that the side has beaten CBHS, St Andrew's College and St Bede's College all in the same season.

- top of the 18th grade 1st division after round one. Will compete in the championship group for the remainder of the season.

- qualified for National Premier Tournament for the first time since 1999.

Harriers Results

Canterbury Athletics held the inaugural Andrew Reese Memorial Relay at Woodend on Saturday. Christ's College's number one harrier team of Hunter McKenzie, Jeremy Penrose, Nick Stewart, Frazer Densem and James Munro was first home on handicap. This team also won the junior men's grade. The number two team of Nic Tillman, Etienne Wain, Sam Walker, Sam Taylor and Hamish Penrose were third in the junior men's grade.

Mid-South SS Fencing Champs 2014

Daniel Keleghan, William Warren and Anthony Goh fenced both foil and epee in the mid-south Secondary Schools' championships.

In the foil, William finished 7th, losing to Daniel in the tableau of 8. Daniel and Anthony both made it into the finals, with Daniel winning by 15-7. Daniel received a gold medal in the foil and Anthony silver.

In the epee, William Warren finished 6th, again losing to Daniel. In the semi finals, Anthony ended up fencing Daniel again, this time Anthony winning by 15-11 to advance to the finals. However, Anthony lost the final 15-7 so finished 2nd, gaining another silver medal.

Also, during Queen's Birthday weekend, Anthony fenced in Auckland for the North Island championships, in an Open Senior level competition. He finished 18th in the Open Men's epee.

I knew Jock for a long time and enjoyed his company on many occasions. We would joke and talk about New Zealand’s political and sporting problems and how to solve them.

I miss him very much.

I was very proud when New Zealand hosted the 2011 Rugby World Cup. Jock, perhaps more than anyone, played a vital part in bringing the Cup to New Zealand.

At the time of Jock’s passing I said winning the Cup was one of New Zealand’s finest hours, and convincing Dublin that New Zealand should host the Cup was possibly Jock’s finest hour.

Jock was an inspiration.

New Zealand was fortunate to have Jock as an ambassador on the world stage and I personally count myself very lucky to have known him.

Prime Minister John Key

It was wonderful that Jock lived to see the Eden Park final in 2011, which probably took every ounce of strength he had. That was, alas, the last time I ever saw him. But Jock’s humility and leadership qualities are attributes I will never forget.

Helen Clark

If I ever wanted someone to have as a father, Jock would be that man.

Mills Muliaina

Jock Hobbs was no ordinary man. His achievements were as numerous as they were outstanding. But despite all the success he enjoyed during his 52 years on this planet, to Jock, first and foremost, came his family and friends.

In order to raise funds for a memorial window for Jock in the Christ's College Chapel, his friends and family have created a book to commemorate Jock's extraordinary life and capture the stories and memories of those who truly knew him, as a lasting celebration of a great man.

REMEMBERING JOCK is a 240 page hardback featuring a colourful collection of personal stories and anecdotes, covering key events such as his crucial role in the Packer-led WRC vs NZRU battle and the birth of professionalism in 1995, the 2003 Rugby World Cup co-hosting debacle, the heroic Rugby World Cup 2011 bid, and his battle with cancer and the brutality of its treatment. The combination of these personal words and a rich collection of images, many sourced from Jock's family archives will provide a fascinating and moving insight into the character and life of one of our great New Zealanders.

Along with the recollections of close friends and family, the book includes contributions from former teammates, fellow All Blacks, politicians, colleagues and other individuals from around the world. Contributors include:

Helen Clark	Steve Hansen	Sir Brian Lochore	Keith Quinn
Murray Deaker	John Hart	Richie McCaw	Wayne Shelford
Robbie Deans	Don Hayes	Sir Colin Meads	Wayne Smith
Marc Ellis	Sir Graham Henry	Murray Mexted	Martin Snedden
Grant Fox	Rt Hon John Key	Syd Millar (CBE, MBE)	Steve Tew
Michael Greenslade	David Kirk	Graham Mourie	Jeff Wilson
Andy Haden	John Kirwan	Mills Muliaina	Alex Wyllie

Some stories are heartfelt and moving tributes to Jock, and others are humorous accounts of times shared. They speak of Jock's early years; his school and university days; his playing days; his passion for life, the game of rugby and his friends; his career in administration, business and law, as well as his family life. REMEMBERING JOCK will be a complete tribute, and a great way to remember and celebrate our mate, Jock!

The book is a fundraiser and can only be ordered from www.jockthebook.com before 30th June at $45 including GST (per book) plus $5 postage and handling. The publication date is 15 August and copies will be shipped to your door on or before that date.
